ROSS CARRIED HOME.

The Lad Little Improved-Dr. Williamson Attended Him.

Joe Ross, the boy who was found at the coal dock paralyzed yesterday, was carried home last night, very little improvement being manifested.

City Physician Williamson feels that an injustice was done him in yesterday's report. He was the first to examine the young man, and pronounced it paralysis of the brain.

He did not have any authority to send the patient to the city hospital, as he lives outside the city, this is the reason he was not sent.

A Mayfield Marriage.

Miss Nell Grider will be married on the afternoon of the 15th inst., to Mr. Henry E. Collins. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride, at Smith's Grove, Warren county, Ky.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

William Jennings Bryan has come and gone, and no doubt many who had heard and read about him for weeks and months were surprised to find that after all he is only a man—only a biped with hands and feet, two arms, one head, but more gull than any other man on earth.

He talks like other men, only more, and makes out like his sole mission is to reform the nation. He is made of sturdiness, earthiness, like the rest of us, and he's only out for the "dust," like the rest of us. Nobody can blame him. We would all no doubt do the same thing if we could. If we could get the same hold on the public leg, we would be fools for not pulling it with the same long, affectionate pull that has characterized W. J. Bryan.

We might tell the people falsehoods with the same impunity that the distinguished Nebraskaan does, for there's a great fascination in riding around in a palace car and living on the fat of the land because so few of us can do it. But that speech last night was a sore disappointment, and this is admitted by a great many of even the most earnest admirers of Bryan and of the principles he professes to represent.

There was nothing in it. He is an orator, no one can deny, but he is not a great man—only a lucky one. His reasoning was bad—his logic palpably absurd, his principal weapon on sarcasm. Even with the hold he has on certain classes of people, however, it is doubtful whether he can be found with an x-ray in 1900. Hence Paine's words should be glad they got to see him before his sun forever sinks in political obscurity.

His speech was not much, and Buffalo Bill at 50 cents a head drew a bigger crowd.

Hon. D. J. Snook, of Kuttawa, son-in-law of ex-Congressman W. J. Stone, is one of the few men who know what it feels like to be Bryan. Last night he could have well imagined he was William Jennings Bryan, even if it was only a few moments.

Everybody who saw the renowned Nebraskaan and saw Mr. Snook, marveled at the close resemblance they bear to each other. In face, physique and general appearance one is almost the exact counterpart of the other.

Last night after the speaking an immense throng gathered at the Palmer House. They had heard an informal reception would be held there after the speaking, and were there to meet the orator.

Shortly after the crowd began to leave, Mr. Snook entered the Palmer House, and with a loud cheer the crowd made a rush for him. Before he could explain he was given a regular ovation, seized and forced to shake hands with quite a number before he could extricate himself and assert his identity, everybody mistaking him for Bryan.

He naturally did not care to enjoy honors intended for someone else, but as the end justifies the means, he might have just let them go on and shake his hand, and they would all have left satisfied and happy, instead of disappointed and unhappy, without once suspecting the truth.

Hamberger steak stands have become so profitable in Paducah that it looks and smells like there is one on every corner down town. These competition, like in the tumble business, may be the means eventually of ridding the city of an odiferous nuisance.

Last night an old fellow from Marshall county stopped Mr. Enoch Lynn, near Second and Broadway, and asked the way to a certain wagon.

"I've been to Paducah for thirteen years," he explained, "and I'd almost forgot what the market house was."

know'd the waggon yard was nigh somewhere, an' so 'bout gittin' to it, but honest my friend, I've walked around it thirteen times—on't for each year I'd been away,—and every day blasted time I cum out at the wrong end! I guess I'se them new fangled lights they've hung up over the corners sense I war hyar in '84."

He thanked Mr. Lynn for directing him and left.

Capt. Bob Owens, of near Unionville, Ill., came to the city yesterday to hear Bryan—and heard him. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon he carried him a box to Yeller park, and placed it where he could command a good view of the speaker and hear within easy earshot. There he sat from 4 until 8 o'clock, pushed and jostled, and in imminent danger of being pushed off and deprived of his seat.

Last night he informed a reporter that he felt much better. He said he felt a good deal like the old farmer who went to the races with his son Jake to see the old grey mare start. They stationed themselves where they could see the track, but the old man's vision was defective, and Jake had to keep him informed after the horse left the post.

"What's the old grey mare doing now, Jake?" he asked as the horses passed the first quarter.

"She's thirty feet behind," announced Jake.

"My stomach feels out of order," groaned the old man, as he began to rub it.

"Jake, what's the old grey mare doing now?" he asked as they reached the half.

"Pa, the old grey mare's forty feet behind," replied Jake.

"Gosh, how my stomach do hurt!" he groaned.

"Jake," he presently inquired, "What's the old grey mare doing now?"

"She's fifty feet behind, pa, and at the third quarter."

"I'll jes' have to go home with my stomach, taint no use talkin'," he said as he danced around, but still lingered to find out what the old grey mare was going to do.

"Jake, what's the old grey mare doing now?" he asked.

"Pa, she's crossed twenty feet ahead!" yelled Jake.

"Lord, how good my stomach do feel now!" sighed the old man, and Capt. Owen says that's the way the speech affected him.

Why Prices Are Low. "You must attribute it to the inventive genius.  That is what has brought down prices in this country and everywhere."—Hon. W. J. Bryan, March 16, 1892.

What Dollar Wheat is Doing. "Not this is just what is occurring in the wheat belt: The merchant among the farmers is 'stocking up'; the wholesale dealers are thus compelled to increase their orders; the manufacturers fill their shops with men to fill these orders; they buy more cars and employ more men to move the product and the goods; the men thus employed buy more goods from the local dealers, and the local producers of milk, vegetables, eggs and the like sell where they could not sell before. The last named in turn buy more goods and the ascending scale of purchase and production begins again. This is what dollar wheat means, not only in the wheat belt, but throughout a full half of the country."—Atlanta Journal.

Great Prosperity in Kansas. Bank Commissioner Bridenthal, of Kansas, may have a rifle exuberant in calling his state the most prosperous in the union, but he deals with facts with-in his official purview when he declares that the farmers will pay off $40,000,000 in mortgages this year and that money is now so plentiful that many of the banks have refused to receive further deposits, so that the money is being shipped to banks in adjacent states. Such facts knock the bottom off the recent campaign theories that the country had not currency enough to go round; that the banks were hoarding the cash to which the people were entitled; that the west was in hopeless bondage to the east.—Philadelphia Record.

Silver Losing Ground. The national farmers' congress in session at St. Paul rejected a free silver resolution on the same day that the politicians in Nebraska adopted one. Only the elections will show, apparently, how much weaker the decision has grown under dollar wheat.

Tonight's Play.

The Cairo Argus of yesterday says: "A Jolly Night" drew a large and nice audience at the opera house last night, and the entertainment was very fine. It was a comedy of a refined character, void of rough boisterousness. The play was a play with a plot, not a mere make-believe to provide places for spectators. There was genuine good feeling in it, that appealed to sensible people, and no attempt to excite the senses with outlandish acts of clowning.

Called Meeting.
All members of Olive Camp, Woodmen of the World, will please meet tonight, at 7:30, for special drill and instructions, preparatory to the unveiling ceremony.

SCARE AT MAYFIELD.

Threaten to Burn a Patient in a Barn.

Quite a sensation was caused here by a report that a case of yellow fever existed in Mayfield, and the whole town is in a state of excitement, says a Mayfield dispatch to the Louisville "Times" of yesterday.
A German about forty years of age got off the north-bound train at the depot here and later was found near the cemetery in an unconscious condition. He was taken to the poor-house. In his delirium he muttered something about yellow fever, and the county physician had him removed to the stable on the other side of town.

Armed men are all around the stable this morning threatening to burn it and the sick man in it. The owners of the barn are armed and threaten to shoot any who molest it.

The county physician stated to the "Times" correspondent that the man only had chills and malarial fever. He has a son, a glass-blower, living in Louisville, to whom he was trying to go when he was put off here. The physicians say there is no cause for alarm, as it is not yellow fever.

The man, since the above dispatch, died.

DEATH OF MRS. RATCLIFFE.

A Well Known Lady Passes Away.

Mrs. Ellen Ratcliffe, widow of the late Judge Ratcliffe, died this morning at the family residence, 813 Broadway.

The deceased was about 64 years old, and was one of the most estimable ladies in Paducah, having lived here many years. She had been ill for some time of heart trouble, and died at 2 a. m.

She leaves three children, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. Charles Ratcliffe and Miss Minnie Ratcliffe.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Episcopal church; burial at Oak Grove.

Plenty of Room at Cairo.

There is an abundance of room now under the Illinois Central bridge for steamboats with tall smokestacks.

Four of the main piers on the Kentucky side of the river are now standing on a bar that is out of the water; such is the appearance, although the base of the piers is many feet below.

Crews of workmen are now to be seen on the bridge engaged in taking up rails, and laying down in their place much heavier ones.

The Central is preparing to bridge for the season's traffic that can come.—Cairo Argus.

Excitement Reported at Mayfield.

This afternoon great excitement was reported at Mayfield, as it was said there will be a necktie party tonight. According to reports a colored woman knocked a white woman over on a red hot stove and beat her, resulting in injuries from which she will probably die, if she is not attended to.

No names could be learned.

Death of a Child.

Hoke, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shewell, died near Symsona. Graves county, of membranous croup. The funeral takes place tomorrow, interment at Clark's river burying ground.

THE NEW SCHOOL SHOES

COCHRAN & OWENS.

Buy one pair and you will buy another next fall.

Shoes bought of us polished free.

The Flood Tide....

Of fall trade has set in. It will increase in volume day by day. Albeit it ripples and eddies around the different sections of the store—drugs, goods, millinery, cloaks, warm underwear, blankets, etc., all begin to show signs of great activity. We are pleasing our patrons; no store can have a better advertisement than that. We are here for that purpose.

Mark the well-beaten path that leads direct to our doors. Note the people as they come and go. Ask them the reason for making this store the base of their dry goods supplies, and they will tell you that they have full confidence in our merchandising methods. That's the secret of our success.

The New Gown Stuffs.

Shelves laden with handsome new fall weaves. Come in and see if we have not outdone all former bests. Note the styles, compare the qualities and prices, and be convinced that we have been doing some masterful buying.

Autumn Hosiery Sale.

Everyone wears stockings; everybody wants to wear handsome stockings. This hosiery section of ours is the pride of the store. Its success has been achieved by buying the best and selling at the closest margin of profit possible. Come in and see for yourself.

The Busy Millinery Section.

There's a reason for it—yes, several reasons. First, we've the handsomest stock in Paducah; second, you can depend upon our hats being right in style and worthiness of material; and third, the prices are so modest that one's sense of economy is appealed to.

The Garment Boom.

In so short a space we could not give a creditable description of the items and prices of these tempting lots of capes and jackets, but would like to emphasize the fact that all are tailor-made; that the fit is perfect; that they are finely finished; that the materials are of the best; that our prices are exceptionally low, and that we want to start the season right by giving you values that you can talk about. We are ready to show you.

For Shoe Buyers.

Don't think you ever wore honest shoes than these. We know they are honestly priced—too much so for a big profit showing, but we bought them when leather was lower, on a close cash basis, and the saving goes to you, where it rightly belongs. We ask our friends everywhere to call on us, and promise to save them money on reliable goods.
